Subject: Pav. home page is now published with several minor changes related to the extension of the Draft Report comment period to January 15th:

Hi everyone! With Ayn's tremendous help and direction, I made the following changes:
<http://www.epa.gov/region8/superfund/wy/pavillion>

1. Instead of linking to the regulations.gov file, I imported the PDF document into the Region 8 Web system of files, so that I knew that the link could never break (regulations.gov has had issues, as you know, with links breaking and/or changing quite often).
2. Ayn had me re-arrange the order of the bullets at the end of the Draft Report box and remove one bullet that was duplicative of information covered elsewhere. Those bulleted items are far less confusing now, as well as much more logically arranged. Before, we had consecutive "Federal Register" links. The second FR link is now at the bottom; it's the original one from Dec. 2011.
3. We added a "What's New" blurb for October 16, 2012
4. We fixed the wording a little bit in the March 8 "What's New" item. We did not, however, change the comment period extension from October 2012 (people realize that these What's New items are archival).

Thanks!
